What has been working?

- One thing that's been working really well for us is being able to collaborate on our own time and then combine our work. This has been super helpful since we all have different schedules and are pretty busy, so having that flexibility has made a big difference.

What has not been working?

- Something that hasn't worked as well is not having much time during class to actually work on the project and get help from the TAs. Our expectation during the beginning of the semester was that we would be given more time to work on the project during discussion since we were told the exercises would run out. Being that discussion is the only time the four of us can come together within an allotted time, it would've been helpful to use that time to work on the project together. Now that we are entering finals season it's becoming a little bit more difficult to collaborate as everyone's schedule is packed and trying to prepare for their other classes while working on this project.

What can you do differently to address what hasn't been working?

- Since there's only one week left in the semester, there's not a lot we can change. The best we can do now is improve our time management. We are trying to prepare for our other finals and still prioritize the project so we can complete and submit it on time.
